

HEADMASTER'S WEEKLY NEWSLETTER

Dear Parents

The opportunity for us all to take on responsibility for various aspects of our work, social or home environments forms an important part of everyday life. We learn to listen, troubleshoot issues, develop sympathy and understanding and to have a more open mind, traits that take time to develop, but make us better people.

Allowing the children at Town Close to start growing these skills is an important part of their journey with us and something we actively encourage. Today was a prime example where children from Year 4 and 8 played a crucial part in our Open Morning, acting as our ambassadors and tour guides to the families that visited. The energy, enthusiasm, knowledge and passion for the school were all visible and commented on, in addition to their delightful manners. My sincere thanks to all that took part and for helping to show off the school in the best possible way.

At the top of the Prep school, there have been a number of detailed discussions around positions of responsibility, with House Captains announced earlier this week and the Prefects due in Monday's assembly. It is great to see the desire of the children to take on these positions and give back to the community in whatever way they can.

Earlier this week, 3R took responsibility for the first Class Assembly of the term which was an outstanding success, with the confidence in public speaking clear for all to see, including their parents who were in attendance. While there were many other events that took place in school, I did want to say a special thank you to Mr Cook, who visited Year 1 to talk to them about the bones in our body (Mr Cook is a Spinal Surgeon).

I hope you all have a great weekend.

With very best wishes
