

HEADMASTER'S WEEKLY NEWSLETTER

Dear Parents

This newsletter is a wonderful way of getting a sense of all that is happening within our community, although it is perhaps guilty of pulling out only the headlines, when there is so much that goes on daily that could form part of this introduction.

One such example is all the wonderful learning that is taking place within the classrooms and across the school. While I have had the privilege to see all the year groups hard at work this week, it is the focus, application and maturity of approach from the children in Years 5-8 that has stood out, as they prepare for their upcoming internal and external exams.

We have been blessed with some fine weather since the start of term and while I am sure the farmers and gardeners amongst us are longing for some rain, the sporting community is celebrating one of the finest starts to a cricket season in a very long time. The girls and boys have matched the weather with some fine cricket, securing some impressive results to date and enjoying the camaraderie that comes from team sport.

This week also saw the first of the Pre Prep assemblies, something I was very sad to miss due to my commitments at an IAPS conference, but the feedback I have been given was very impressive. I look forward to seeing the assemblies scheduled for next week and watching the children perform with the confidence and enjoyment that was clearly evident this week.

On Tuesday, we had the school photo, something I look forward to seeing the proof to in the near future. As with many things, it was great to be able to have the whole community together, albeit for something that can be quite arduous and time consuming, but the children all behaved impeccably, allowing us to get the photo done efficiently and quickly.

Whatever the weekend holds for you. I hope you are able to make the most of the weather.

With best wishes
